A close-up photograph of a woodpecker perched on a tree branch. The bird's feathers are intricately patterned with shades of brown, grey, and white, making it blend perfectly with the rough bark of the tree. Its large, dark eye is prominent, and its beak is pointed downwards. The background is a soft-focus green, suggesting a forest setting.

Ні, це не дерево!
Це птах.

Він схожий на дерево, тому
хижаки його не бачать.
